It's encouraging to see how the platform celebrates local innovation while building real momentum for the hospitality business across the country. IHE brings together everything we need, all in one place.

Harshit Garg, Ramson Stainless Steel – As specialising in copper and stainless-steel utensils, we've had the privilege of serving clients across the globe for over 50 years. Participating in IHE year after year has only strengthened that journey. The platform stands out for its commitment to quality and its deep understanding of industry needs. Especially in the catering space. Whether you're a new entrant or a well-established name, IHE offers unmatched exposure and genuine business connections. It's heartening to see how the exhibition uplifts Indian manufacturers and brings global attention to our craftsmanship.
